Deal for new police headquarters is approved

By David Weller

The Yolo County Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday morning to approve the complicated three-party agreement which promises to end in new West Sacramento facilities for the county's Department of Social Services, the public health clinic, and the West Sacramento Police Department. The county vote followed unanimous approval of the deal by the West Sacramento City Council last week.

"It is one of those classic win-win situations, and the big benefit is for the citizens," said Assistant City Manager Carol Richardson, who has been actively involved in negotiating the terms of the agreement for more than a year.

Among the actions the Board approved were a resolution to take ownership of the property at 1038 Triangle Court for the development of county health services, an agreement to lease the property at 500 Jefferson Blvd from West Sacramento for the operation of the public health clinic, and an agreement to transfer ownership of three county owned properties to West Sacramento.

One of the reasons the deal is so complicated, according to Supervisor George DeMars of West Sacramento, is that the county can receive state and federal funding if it operates the public health clinic on rented property. If the county were to own the property at 500 Jefferson Blvd, they would lose the opportunity to be reimbursed by the federal government for 85% of the rent and 50% of the maintenance expenses.

Because the city government has an interest in keeping the county health clinic operating in West Sacramento, they are willing to purchase the property and lease it to the county.

Two of the properties being transferred from county to city ownership are located at the corner of 3rd and C streets where the county currently operates the Salud Clinic. The third property is a five acre lot at 1124 West Capitol Ave currently owned jointly by the city and the county.

The two cites for the new county services buildings were chosen by a selection committee which included Councilman Wes Beers, Councilwoman Cindy Tuttle, Supervisor Mike McGowan, Supervisor George DeMars, and one citizen who was involved with the Salud Clinic.

The combined price of the three properties to be purchased from R.C. Collet Inc, and from Collet-Lukenbill Iron Triangle Partnership is $3.5 million. According to an independent appraiser's report, that is 7% below the current value of the properties. The county tax assessor's office, however, has the properties appraised at about $3.2 million. "The assessed value is often a little than market value," explained Richardson.

Local couple celebrates 50th

Alfred L. and Myrtle J. Migge, residents of West Sacramento's Poplar Avenue since 1952, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary this Sunday.

The two were married on Feb. 27, 1944 in the Bay Area.

"Al" is retired from the State of California, where he worked in the Department of Water Resources. Myrtle Migge is retired from Mercy Hospital, where she worked as a registered nurse for 20 years. They bowl regularly in the senior league at El Rancho Bowl in West Sacramento.

Among those wishing the couple a happy 50th anniversary are son Don Migge, of Rancho Cordova, and his wife Mary and their children Erin and Melissa; and daughter Jane Cook of Springfield, Oregon, and her husband Jim and son William.

Youth wounded in early morning shooting near elementary school

By Steve Marschke

A 17-year old West Sacramento boy is in stable condition after being shot twice early Sunday morning near Elkhorn Village School in the city's Broderick neighborhood.

"We got the call about 4:30 in the morning on Sunday," said Sgt. Rick Mayoral of the West Sacramento Police Department. "He was found in the street. The victim was not being too cooperative with the police in the beginning, but he's starting to be more cooperative now."

The shooting victim was found in the street at Hardy Dr. and Cummins Way, and told police that's where the shooting occurred.

A nearby resident told the News-Ledger neighbors heard about five shots fired in rapid succession, but Mayoral said the police had only found physical evidence of two shots fired at the scene.

"(The victim) remembers seeing a car and some shots being fired from it."

Mayoral declined to speculate whether the incident was gang-related, or whether the victim was himself a gang member.

Power outage causes minimum day for students at Golden State Middle School

Students at Golden State Middle School had a shortened day last Thursday after a power failure caused by a broken transformer.

After the power went out at the school, officials declared a "mini-day," ending the school day at about 12:30 p.m.

"We notified the parents, and in any case we couldn't notify the parents, we kept the kids," said

Carmen Lindblad of the Washington Unified School District superintendent's office.

"PG & E came out and worked late into the night, and had it repaired by Friday morning."

Sewage plant

Investigators' interviews contain more claims of faulty procedures

By Steve Marschke

Information given to federal investigators by employees at the West Sacramento sewage treatment plant largely corroborates charges that the plant was frequently operated in violation of water treatment standards, according to documents obtained by the News-Ledger.

The interview summaries were given to state water quality regulators in January by a federal Environmental Protection Agency official, along with the comment that "the information concerning possible environmental violations... are most appropriately addressed by your agency."

Neither the federal official, Special Agent David W. Wilma, nor a representative of the California Regional Water Quality Control Board could be reached for immediate comment.

Included in Wilma's letters were conclusions such as:

■ It was standard operating procedure to take "random" samples of treated waste only after first making sure the waste would meet standards, thereby avoiding the possibility of discovering -- and having to report -- chronic wastewater violations.

"To ensure passing the fecal coliform test, the operators would wait," wrote Wilma. "The taking of the random fecal coliform sample would be delayed until the optimum conditions were reached."

In their interviews, lower level plant employees confirmed this practice, while one of their supervisors denied knowing of its existence.

■ Testing for chlorine in wastewater discharges was done in a faulty manner.

Chlorine is used at the plant to kill bacteria in the treated waste, but is supposed to be removed from the waste before discharge into the river. But interviews showed that when plant operators found chlorine in the wastes leaving the plant, they would take a second sample at the outfall ten miles downriver.

"The results of samples taken at the POTW are not reported to the regulatory agencies when a second sample is taken at the outfall," said Wilma.

■ Plant officials may have "inaccurately reported the manpower and number of hours devoted to (the city's industrial pre-treatment program)," according to Wilma.

At least one public works employee accused management of "padding" its claims about manpower in the pre-treatment program in order to mislead state regulators.

■ Several city personnel were accused of deliberately destroying test samples or failing to report them to the state as required.

■ The existence of one or two employees "with an axe to grind" against city management was blamed by several of their co-workers as the reason many of these allegations were originally released to the media and to regulatory agencies.

Interviews with the two named "whistleblowers" were not among those included with Wilma's letter to state regulators.

Public works department officials and city management have downplayed any problems at the plant. They have stressed that they are working with often obsolete equipment and that "disgruntled employees" have exaggerated any procedural problems.

A photo of West Sacramento resident Mary Pierce in last week's News-Ledger contained an inaccurate caption.

The stacks of clothes donated for earthquake victims and shown in the photo were donated by Pierce, individually, and not by the Soroptimist organization.

River City High School

Students learn law -- by practicing

by Matt Flint

Commissioner of Publicity, RCHS

Mock Trial is about three things -- how the legal system works, different law-related problems, and it teaches the students how to think fast. The Mock Trial team has been practicing every day after school since November 1. The prosecuting attorneys were Vincent Forry, Anchadi Villalobos, Shawna Orta, and Rhapsody Flores. For the defense were Elizabeth Pond, Raquel Peralta, Melissa Murphy and Frank Lavorico. This year's case was about child abduction and grand theft.

Mr. Mesquita, the mock trial instructor, has been teaching his students to win a case by arguing. To assist Mr. Mesquita were district attorneys from the Sacramento office. One of the coaches was lawyer

Geoff Lautes.

During the practice trial, River City beat Loretto. And the child abduction-grand theft case was presented into competition against schools from Sacramento county. Twenty-four schools were in the competition, which was held at the Sacramento County Courthouse. The judges presiding over the cases were from Superior Court and Municipal Court.

During the competition, River City won over Cordova and San Juan. Unfortunately, River City was knocked out of the final round of competition by losing to Encina and Rio Americano. The record was 2-2 for the whole competition. The Mock Trial team

Student-leader visits Washington

From February 22 to 27, Yolanda Robles of West Sacramento will participate in the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C. The National Young Leaders Conference is a "hands-on" leadership training program for high school students who have demonstrated leadership potential and scholastic merit. Yolanda, a student at River City High School, will be among 350 young leaders from across the nation attending the conference.

The theme of the National Young Leaders Conference is The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today. Yolanda will interact with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Highlights of the leadership conference include welcoming remarks from a member of Congress on the floor of the House of Representatives. Students participate in a panel discussion with distinguished journalists at the National Press Club and visit a foreign embassy for an international policy briefing. Students may also meet with their elected senators and representatives or designated congressional staff. In addition to the Washington briefings, Yolanda will participate in activities designed to enhance each student's individual leadership style. In one activity, Foreign Policy and the President, students role-play the president and members of the cabinet who must respond to an international crisis in the Balkans. The culminating activity of the conference is the Mock Congress on National Service, in which students role-play members of the United States House of Representatives by debating, amending and voting on proposed youth service legislation.

More than 7,000 outstanding youth leaders nationwide participate in one of 20 sessions of the National Young Leaders Conference held each year. The conference is sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council, a non-profit, nonpartisan educational organization located in Washington, D.C. Founded in 1985, the council is dedicated to "fostering and inspiring young people to achieve their full leadership potential." Over 300 members of the United States Congress join this commitment as members of the council's honorary congressional board of advisors. "The National Young Leaders Conference is unique in that it provides outstanding young people with direct access to Washington's leaders," said John Hines, council executive director. "This interaction not only develops the young leaders' critical thinking and advocacy skills, it helps prepare them for the challenges they will face as our nation's future leaders."

Public invited to help local 'toys for tots'

by Mary Pierce

Fifteen years ago the late Charlie Belknap and Mary and Norman Pierce started a program for Toys for Tots. During the year, Mary and Norman would shop at flea markets, garage sales and thrift shops, and then fix them up to give out at Christmas time with Charlie as Santa.

The Washington Outboard Club would hold a raffle with prizes of $100, $50, and $25 to help support this program. This past year over 1,600 toys were given out to preschools, Broderick Christian Center, Resource Center, and the homeless. Joined the people at the Handicap Christmas Party at the VFW. Charlie had to give his roll as Santa, and Marvin Withrow has been doing a great job for the last eight years. We plan to continue with the program. Anyone wishing to donate used toys (in good condition) please call the News-Ledger at 371-8030 to arrange a drop-off time. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays are generally best.

At no time was this program connected with the "National Toys for Tots" program. For some of these children this is the only Christmas they have, and to see the happiness on their faces is more than enough for the time and expense that it costs to put on the program.

SPORTS

The Sports Insider

By Rich Novoa

The Sacramento Kings finally made a trade that can help them get into the playoffs. Last week, they traded center Duane Causwell and three second-round picks to the Detroit Pistons for 7-foot center Olden Polynice and forward David Wood. Causwell flew into Detroit late Friday night and failed the physical exam, so the trade was rejected by the Pistons.

The Kings got lucky, because forward Pete Chilcutt was substituted for Causwell and the Kings threw in a future first-round draft pick for Polynice. Polynice (known as OP) brings to Sacramento the defense and rebounding power that is needed to win. OP is the toughest around the basket and averages 13 points and 12 rebounds a game. But together, Polynice and Causwell represent the Kings' best chance for a legitimate front line.

Next home game is Feb. 24 against the Lakers, who the Kings already beat three times this season.

Shreveport, LA, and Baltimore, MD, are the newest franchises to join the Canadian Football League. Shreveport will be nicknamed the Pirates, and will play at the Independence Bowl. Baltimore has not decided on a nickname and is fighting with the NFL for the rights to be named the Baltimore Colts. Former Packer coach Forrest Gregg is rumored to be named the head coach of the Pirates.

The CFL now has 12 teams, and four are from American cities, which include our own Sacramento Gold Miners and the Las Vegas Posse. Ticket information for the Gold Miners 1994 season will be out next month.

The Olympic Games in Norway have been fun to watch, and the USA team (as of Feb. 22) has won four gold medals and three silver medals. The event of the year will start on Wednesday, when Tonya Harding, who skates 8th, and Nancy Kerrigan (23rd), begin the women's figure skating.

Tonya promises to win the gold medal, and her famous last words were, "If you can't beat them, then beat them."

See you next week!!

River City Sports:

Raider varsity wins a pair of games

by Chuck Robinson

Last Tuesday the River City High School mens varsity basketball team won a close one over John Swett.

Swett was up by 8 points with 2 minutes left in the game. River City came down the court and scored to cut the lead to 6. Then, on 2 steals, they cut the lead to 2 points. River City got the ball and came down the court and Bill Springer, with 8 seconds to spare, scored on a lay-up to tie the score and was fouled. Bill made his free throw, which put the Raiders ahead 68 to 67. Swett came down the court and tried 2 lay-ups, both unsuccessful. Springer led the team with 23 points, 4 rebounds, 4 assists, 4 three-pointers; Mark Munsinger, 20 points, 8 rebounds; Carlos Aguilar, 7 points, 4 rebounds, 4 assists, 5 steals; Zac Salvo, Anesh Singh, 6 points each;

Duane Gordon, 4 points, 5 rebounds; and Doug Gongaware, 2 points.

On Thursday the Raiders pulled an upset over first-place Justin Sienna. By beating Justin, R.C. is tied with Justin and Vanden for first place. River City, following a red-hot Bill Springer, beat Justin 92 to 83. It was a close game all the way. In the first quarter the score was R.C. 22, Justin 22. At half-time, R.C. 39 and Justin 38. By the fourth quarter R.C. was at 62, Justin at 61.

In the fourth quarter, River City took over to score 30 points over Justin's 22 points. Bill Springer scored 42 points, 6 rebounds, 5 assists, 4 steals, 7 three-pointers, 9 for 9 free throws and 13 for 17 field goals (76%); Mark Munsinger, 20 points, 7 rebounds; Carlos Aguilar, 14 points, 4 rebounds, 7 assists, 3 steals, 4 three-pointers, 2 for 2 free throws, 4 for 4 field goals; Zac Salvo, 12 points, 11 rebounds; Anesh Singh, 3 points, 3 assists; and Doug Gongaware, 1 point, 3 rebounds. River City's record is 16-8 overall and 10-3 in league.

J.V.'s Win a Pair

Last Tuesday, the River City mens junior varsity basketball team beat John Swett 78 to 62. Bruce Sweeten scored 22 points, 3 rebounds, 4 assists, 5 steals, 4 three-pointers; Jaimes Timas, 15 points, 16 rebounds, 8 steals; Donald Golaway, 15 points, 6 rebounds; Zerguy Maazouddin, 12 points; Senh Saelee, 5 points, 4 rebounds, 9 assists; Ghamai Mashrigi, 4 points, 4 rebounds, 3 assists; Brian Sidhu, 4 points, 2 assists; and Tamin Razaqpur, 1 point.

Thursday night the J.V.'s beat Justin Sienna 69 to 55. The scoring was again led by Bruce Sweeten, with 16 points, 7 rebounds, 5 assists, 2 three-pointers; Senh Saelee, 15 points, 6 rebounds, 10 assists, 6 steals; Jaimes Timas, 10 points, 16 rebounds; Zerguy Maazouddin, 9 points; Donald Golaway, 8 points, 9 rebounds; Ghamai Mashrigi, 7 points, 5 rebounds; and Aaron Cargile, 4 points. The J.V.'s record overall is 11-9 and 9-4 in league. First-year head coach Jamie King has done a great job with this team. They have won more overall games and more league games in the history of River City. Jamie is a River City graduate and coached with Jon West for several years. Congratulations to Jamie King and his assistant Jamal Maazouddin, who is also a River City graduate.

UCD's medical students host fun run Saturday

The UC Davis chapter of the American Medical Student Association will sponsor its fourth annual Heart Beat Run and Health Fair on Saturday, Feb. 26, between 9 a.m. and noon at the UC Davis School of Medicine on Health Sciences Drive.

The event will include a 10K run, a 5K run/walk and children's runs, along with the health fair, said coordinators Randy Pi, Richard Hoang, and David Michelis, all medical students. The funds raised, which totaled $7,800 last year, again will benefit the community-based health care clinics in Sacramento and Davis, where students volunteer to provide free or low-cost primary health care to underserved populations.

The health fair will offer blood-pressure, cholesterol, and cardiovascular risk assessment, hearing tests and physical exams, plus information about a variety of health topics.

Pre-registration for Heart Beat events, at $15 for adults and $5 for children, is due by Feb. 21. After Feb. 21, the cost for adults is $17 for adults and $7 for children.

Entry forms and more information are available at 759-0232.

Classes for boaters begin in Sacramento March 15 & 17

The Sacramento Power Squadron, Inc. is sponsoring two evening boating classes commencing March 15 and 17. Classes will be held at two locations: Tuesday, March 15, between 7 and 10 p.m. at Sacramento Marina at Miller Park, 2710 Ramp Way, or Thursday, March 17, between 7 and 10 p.m. at Hewlett Packard, 8020 Foothills Blvd. in Roseville.

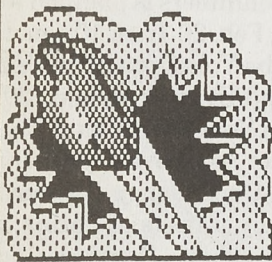

Classes will cover topics such as basic piloting and seamanship, navigation rules, and safe boat handling.

Directed to outboard, inboard or sail boaters, these classes are designed to increase safety and enjoyment afloat.

Health service providers

The Yolo County Health Care Access Coalition is accepting nominations from the community for the fifth annual John H. Jones Public Service Award. Nominations are also being accepted for the second annual Ada Merhoff Award.

The John H. Jones Public Service Award recognizes local health care professionals who make an extra special contribution in working to achieve access to health care for all people. Potential candidates for the award should be Yolo County physicians, nurses, or other health care practitioners. The award is named after Dr. John Jones, founder of the Davis Community Clinic, who was the first recipient of the award in 1990.

Other recipients have been: Dr. Herb Bauer, 1991; Dr. Leon Schimmel and Dr. Chuck Stice jointly received the award in 1992; and Dr. Ernie Young, 1993.

The Ada Merhoff Award was created in 1993. It recognizes the efforts of local health care advocates and volunteers to increase access to health care for lower income Yolo County residents. The first recipient of the award in 1993 was Ada Merhoff, long time health care activist, and the award is named for her.

"We want to acknowledge the work of dedicated health care professionals and volunteers in the community," said Shoshana Zatz, a member of the Coalition. "There are some extraordinary people who deserve recognition for their devotion to easing the burden of lower income Yolo County residents."

Nominations should be in written form, with a short description of the candidate's local health care contributions and activities. Please mail nominations by Friday, March 11 to the Yolo County Health Care Access Coalition, P.O. Box 4158, Davis, 95617.

Awards will be presented in April. The Yolo County Health Care Access Coalition is committed to improving the local, state and national status of health care so that all people can have the right to quality health care, regardless of their income. For more information, please call Shoshana Zatz at 758-4165.

Man dies shortly after arrest

Mitchell Lyons, 36, died at the Yolo County Jail Feb. 15 after being arrested on a misdemeanor warrant and petty theft charges earlier the same day.

Lyons, a West Sacramento resident, was believed to have a drug problem.

Although the county coroner's ruling on the cause of his death was not immediately available, police speculated that it may have been drug-related.

Extension classes

You don't have to go to a campus to take a college course. University of California Extension's Center for Media and Independent Learning (CMIL) offers college credit and professional development courses by mail.

The 1994 CMIL catalog is now available and lists over 200 college, professional, and high school courses; some offer an electronic mail option. New this year are courses in the fields of physics, computer science, microeconomics, environmental issues, anthropology, history, religious studies, and film.

Independent learning courses by mail are particularly attractive to working adults, people whose jobs require frequent travel or variable hours, and those who have childcare responsibilities. CMIL students benefit from one-on-one instruction and have the flexibility and convenience of setting their own pace, studying and preparing assignments at times and places that fit their personal schedules.

Independent learning instructors are faculty members of University of California other universities or are professionals in technical or business fields. All courses are approved for credit by the appropriate UC campus department and by the UC Berkeley Academic Senate. Students use course credit for many purposes, such as credit toward job promotion, meeting a certificate or degree requirement, or preparing for a career change. Enrollment is always open, and students may take up to one year to complete a course.

For a copy of the 1994 Independent Learning catalog, write to Center for Media and Independent Learning, Dept. AN, University of California Extension, 2223 Fulton Street, Berkeley, CA 94720. Requests can be made by telephone to the extension office at UC Davis, 1-800-752-0881.

Women volunteers

The Sister/Friend Project is looking for West Sacramento women who will volunteer two hours of their time to help other women. Our clients are pregnant or parenting women or teens in need of emotional support, encouragement and practical assistance as they learn to manage their own lives. Our goals are to facilitate prenatal and continuing health care and drug-free deliveries and to promote healthy and happy mother/child relationships. This is accomplished by providing one on one support, pairing each volunteer with one mother.

A Training Workshop for prospective volunteers is planned for Saturday, Feb. 26, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Yolo County Office of Alcohol and Drug programs, 201 W. Beamer Street, Woodland. Topics include: Assertive Communication, Co-Dependency, Chemical Dependency, Effects of Perinatal Substance Abuse, Domestic Violence, Teen Pregnancy and Community Resources. Due to limited space reservations are necessary by Feb. 24. Please contact the Sister/Friend project at 371-1966.

Good job, River City High School academic teams

Some kind of congratulations are in order. Two teams of River City High students have gone forth in academic competition, and have defended themselves well.

One group of eight kids formed a "mock trial" team which practiced both prosecution and defense law in competition with other schools. Coached by real lawyers, the group got some hands-on experience as arguers and advocates.

Another group of ten kids formed an "academic decathlon" team, participating in sort of a quiz show with other schools.

That neither team actually won its tournament isn't really important. And the fact that some of the kids shone brightly in individual performances isn't really important, either.

But one thing is. The fact that these students were willing to put in the time and effort into their academic careers shows that, at least for them, even greater things lie ahead.

In a troubled school district, and in a community beset with gang violence and other problems, there are these 18 bright spots -- and hundreds of others -- who are doing something to improve themselves.

Governor's budget: 'unrealistic' and 'naive re-election ploy'

by Assemblyman Tom Hannigan
D-Solano, Yolo

Fasten your seatbelt — another major state budget battle is just around the corner.

For the fourth year in a row, California faces a budget deficit as a result of the recession. Although the economy is now beginning to stabilize, the budget gap is estimated to be about $5 billion.

The governor's proposed budget outlines a continued effort to "downsize" state government, a process long experienced by those in the private sector. There are no tax increases proposed. Cuts in state programs and services will primarily balance the budget.

For instance, the governor proposes:

- Reduction of state managers and supervisors by 10% resulting in $150 million in savings.
- Consolidation of state agencies.
- $800 million of cuts in health and welfare programs.

■ Major shifts in funding and responsibilities to counties. Intent to restructure state and county fiscal relationship by giving counties greater cost shares of programs. Though, in exchange for higher property tax revenues, sales tax, and support for trial court funding.

Beyond these reductions, the governor is making some rather precarious assumptions that rely on the federal government to pony up more funds for California. It's frankly an unrealistic attempt to put our state problems on the backs of the federal government. It's a naive re-election ploy by the governor, which will only delay decisions on further budget cuts.

For instances, part of the governor's $3.1 billion federal strategy is $2.3 billion for state costs toward education, health care, and prisons for undocumented immigrants. Another assumption is $800 million for increased federal match in health and welfare programs. Both require action by congress and the president, not likely in view of the federal government's own deficit.

Pete Wilson knows better. We have to get our own house in order and quit looking for others to provide the leadership. The budget gap must be addressed by the legislature and the governor — not by congress and the president.

Californians must also work to enlarge our economic base to provide the state's growing population with sound education and jobs. We must rethink the way government does its job and invest in our priorities — education, research in emerging technologies and basically work harder and smarter. We all have to be more entrepreneurial.

The legislature has made the budget along with our business climate and public safety our top priorities. We will all be better off as soon as we face reality and address these issues.

Helmets and youthful bicyclists are a good combination

Maury Hannigan
Commissioner
California Highway Patrol

Parents have a responsibility to protect their children from danger. It comes with the territory. Society expects it.

But sometimes recognizing the danger, or rather not recognizing it, can put the life of your child in jeopardy. For example, although most of us grew up without safety belts or child safety seats, the idea of a child today riding unprotected by these devices seems unthinkable. Laws requiring their use have become widely accepted as logical and worthwhile.

January 1, 1994 marks the beginning of a logical extension for the protection of our children — California's bicycle helmet law. It is now unlawful for anyone under 18 to ride a bicycle on all streets, bikeways, public paths and trails without wearing a bicycle helmet.

In 1992, 122 bicyclists were killed in California, 34 of them were under the age of 18. In addition, 15,750 were injured with 7,198 aged 17 and under. This is a significant number of victims for a pastime that many people consider quite safe.

The fact is that riding a bicycle is risky. When you operate that bicycle on a public street you are sharing the road with vehicles that are many times your size and moving at many times your speed. When a bicycle and a car, bus or truck collide, the bicycle rider always loses.

Simply falling off a bicycle can inflict serious injury, especially when the rider's head strikes the curb or pavement. Bicycle helmets are designed to absorb that shock and minimize the injury.

The new law requires riders to wear helmets that have been certified to meet or exceed safety standards established by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) or the Snell Foundation. It also makes it illegal to sell bicycle helmets that fail to meet or exceed these standards.

During 1994, violators of the bicycle helmet requirement will receive verbal warnings only. Starting January 1, 1995 they will be cited. The penalty for violations next year will be a maximum of $25.

Buy your child a bicycle helmet, show them how to use it properly and explain why they should always wear it. Then make sure they do.

On every ride, whether it's across the street or all the way to school. Remember, your children are depending on you.

Don't let them down.

No blame here

I don't blame Daryl Fisher for resigning from the school board. I have lived in West Sacramento for forty years and have watched the boards go from "bad to worse."

The boards continually nit-pick, indulge in personal differences, and internal bickering. They seem to ignore focusing on education, with participation from teachers, parents and students.

If they would forego the childish mentality, and regulate their adult conduct with reason, they might accomplish their sworn duty.

West Sacramento is supposed to be growing up. I wish the school boards would!

West Capitol

About the West Capitol Ave. strips, motels, restaurants, convenience stores, etc..

All of us West Sacramentans can make good use of the restaurants and convenience stores. As for the motels, I propose a return to the days when they were first built to serve S.F. Bay area people on their way to Nevada. Now that Bus-I-80 gets most of the traffic. Why not encourage tourists (even international ones) to make West Sacramento their headquarters to visit Sacramento area scenic attractions. The Gold Country and even the S.F. Bay area, not to mention Nevada. Also use West Sacramento as a headquarters for trips to Yosemite Park, Mt. Lassen and Shasta.

For long term use of motels as permanent addresses I should hope the market for affordable rooms or apartments improves.

Land deal

With Yolo County approval, it appears the city of West Sacramento will purchase 2 or 3 buildings on Jefferson Blvd. at/near Fifth Street/Triangle Court, just east of Sonic Cable TV's offices.

The goal would be to relocate the West Sac. Police facilities and Yolo County's public/mental health clinics, Dept./Social Services and Community Partnership Agency. From a land ownership point, the city would eventually own the new police station with the county owning the balance of the new purchase. In exchange for the city's providing the lion's share of financing, the county turns over to the city its share of the 5 acres at 1124 West Capitol Ave. and 2 lots at 3rd and C Streets.

With August, 1995 as the planned opening date of the remodeled facilities on/at Jefferson Blvd., city council/staff (finally) conceded that we will finally get bus service (with shelters!) on Jefferson Blvd. north of West Capitol Ave.!

Such new bus service is but one improvement this writer argued for at last week's local SACOG meeting. Others included full service for Industrial Park/Postal Headquarters, updating of #40/41 routes, less duplication of West Capitol Ave. services of #40/41 by #42, re-timing of #40/41 so that both no longer come around north/south sides of existing routes at same time, and fuller service to/from Southport area — including shelters. This last item could allow further development in Southport before the big bridge is completed. And since we have those new shelters on West Capitol Ave., we should re-allocate some benches, including the Sam Coomb's Park on Stone Blvd., which is often used as a voting/polling place (where the non-driving voter must stand and wait for an hour between buses).

As the folks from the G.A.I.N. training/employment office might say, "Only until we close these public transit/access gaps can we hope to achieve a goal of being 'more G.A.I.N.-fully employed!'" Also, such improvement in Harbor Blvd./Industrial Blvd. bus service would give those needing it most greater access to our local Social Security office on Halyard Drive/off Harbor Blvd. Lastly, better timing of later Yolo Buses is needed to eliminate those 27 and 57 minute waits off downtown light rail service.

INDEPENDENT-LEADER FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 1922.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY NOTES

The Sacramento river registered 12 ft. 2 in. U. S. gauge at the S. P. bridge yesterday.

Normal attendance has been resumed at the Washington school, all teachers having returned to their classes and nearly all pupils at their desks. There are a few children confined to their homes by severe colds and other light ailments, but that is not unusual for this time of year.

The pupils of the public school, especially the boys of the upper grades, have been busy on the school grounds during the past week and have been doing some good work in lawn cutting and cultivating the flowers. The neat appearance of the grounds lends considerably to the beauty of the building, so much so as to draw the attention of strangers and parents.

Mrs. R. H. Buckingham was taken seriously ill last Wednesday with an attack of acute indigestion. She suffered much for a few hours but had relief when a physician was summoned. Yesterday she was greatly improved.

Local fishermen have been making a slight showing during the past few days but not enough to nearly supply the demand during the lenten season. Reports from Colusa are encouraging because some good catches are being made there.

Mrs. L. Moffett is having her home on Second Street raised and otherwise improved. This became necessary of late because when the water main broke last winter the house was flooded and some timbers rotted. The improvement will add greatly to the comfort of the home.

Anybody could tell yesterday that Spring was at hand. Several of the "boys" were out pitching horseshoes, practicing to get into the '49 games in Sacramento in May. Several adepts are putting in some time in the pastime.

Yesterday the tug America came down stream towing Pankost barge No. 7 loaded with 100 cords of wood for fuel and consigned to Hart and Pankost, wood dealers. The wood came from the Feather River section.

J. Nickless and family are comfortably settled in the upper flat of the Hoffman house and the Nickless children are attending the Washington public school. Much repair was necessary to the flat before it could be occupied but that was all finished before the family moved in.

The Frommelt store on Second Street is about to be opened as a grocery by Mrs. M. Murphy, mother of Mrs. Jack Reuter. Mrs. Murphy lately came here from Nicolaus and decided she could build up a business in this town. The store will likely be opened next Monday.

Mrs. H. G. Collins and Mrs. M. J. Sherman are at the Van Deren home from Chico on their way to San Jose. They expect to stay here several days.

Mrs. Florence Johnson is visiting her parents at the Buckingham home to remain for several days. Mrs. Buckingham will accompany her home on her return.

Nobody should forget there will be a dance Saturday night at the public school building in Bryte. The dances given by the Bryte Improvement Club are of the old-time variety—full of fun and nonsense but enjoyable all the time.

Wm. Norton has been confined to his home during the past week with a severe attack of bronchial trouble. Yesterday he was greatly improved.

Miss Emma Waldeck has been a guest of Neville Korrel during the past week during the absence of Mrs. Korrel on a business trip with her husband. Yesterday evening Mrs. Korrel returned to her home.

The death of Mrs. Duncan Fraser took place in Sacramento last Wednesday. She was a former resident of Washington where she was highly respected and esteemed. Lately she has been making her home in Daly City, south of San Francisco.

Miss Mary B. Duff, teacher of the Washington School, who has been absent at her home in Vacaville for the past two weeks because of illness, has returned.

Daily attendance reports given since March 2d by Principal A. L. Case of the Washington School have now been discontinued because attendance of the school is again at normal.

Notices were posted yesterday for the election of Fire Commissioners to be held April 3d.

Miss Harriet S. Lee, County Superintendent of Schools of Yolo County, was a visitor last Tuesday at the Washington School, where she obtained maps made in the geography classes of the school to be used as models in other schools of the county.

Mrs. J. Allerton, who has been ill for the past three weeks, is about again.

Mrs. Edwin Weiger and children of Stockton have been guests at the home of Mrs. Weiger's mother, Mrs. Frank Flatbush.

Mrs. William Hughes came up from Berkeley for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. White, last Sunday.

Mrs. Esther Newton, who has been ill at her home for the past two months is able to be about again.

Miss Esther Mast has returned to

WASHINGTON SCHOOL CONTINUES OPEN WITHOUT "FLU"

Although 70 children were absent from their classes when the Washington public school opened last Monday the school continues to operate without interruption.

True, all classes were dismissed last Monday for the day, but the children returned on Tuesday morning when only a few of the pupils did not make their appearance.

Around town there are several homes afflicted, but from information at hand there are no serious cases. No deaths have occurred except that of Mr. Steward, and his death could not be blamed to the popular epidemic.

Yesterday a vigorous crop of mosquitoes invaded the town from swamps and pools up and down the river. Evidently they had just emerged from the breeding grounds and were hungry for a little good red blood. They were absolutely voracious caring for neither death nor destruction in the quest for food.

WEST SACRAMENTO MILL TAKES 70,000 BAGS OF RICE

On the basis of $2.60 for No. 1 paddy, 73,000 bags of rice were sold to four milling companies in the offices of the Rice Growers' association of California in Sacramento last Wednesday afternoon. The successful bidders were the Natamas Rice Milling Company, Growers' Rice Milling Company, Sacramento Valley Rice Milling Company and California State Rice Milling Company. The latter company took 70,000 of the 73,000 sold. The price is the same as that bid at the last sale.

YOLO GRAND JURY WILL ASK SOME MORE QUESTIONS

Woodland, Mar. 2.—The Yolo county grand jury will resume meetings tomorrow for consideration of the report of Certified Accountant W. D. Hamman.

Members of the board of supervisors have been summoned for quizzing as to the charge said to be made in the report that persons in some districts have been permitted to hold down two county jobs.

BORCHERS WILL SUPPLY MILK TO SACRAMENTO HOSPITAL

A bid to Borchers dairy to furnish grade "A" pasteurized milk to the Sacramento County Hospital for 25 cents per gallon was accepted last Monday by the supervisors. In the past, the county had been paying 33 cents per gallon.

A couple of weeks ago the supervisors decided to award the contract by calling for competitive bids. Yesterday a report was made by County Purchasing Agent George Vice that only one bid had been offered and that it was by Borchers dairy.

At the rate of 25 cents, the county is paying 6 1-4 cents per quart. About sixty gallons of milk are used daily at the institution.

SURVEYS TO EXTEND S. N. LINES TO BAY BEGINS

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—The Western Pacific railroad, owner of the Sacramento Northern railroad yesterday started surveys for the extension of the latter road from Woodland to Vacaville and from Fairfield to Vallejo. The work was first undertaken several weeks ago, when a location gang started out of Woodland.

last Saturday at the Edwards home, at which the guests were Colonel and Mrs. H. H. Brown, Captain and Mrs. A. Wright, Captain A. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Ward and Pagnello, Mrs. Annie Edwards and Paul Dupzyk.

Miss Ethel Cook came up from San Francisco last Saturday, where she is a student at the State Teachers' College, to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Cook.

Mrs. O. P. Cook, Mrs. Ann Chambers and Mrs. M. Brough went to Roseville last Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ford.

Wm. Graham joined the '49 whisker club in Sacramento last Friday and has already started a wonderful growth of whiskers. In front of the post office he had a clean shave, the first in several years, and now feels satisfied he has the prize won for the celebration.

MOVING PICTURE SHOW HOUSE TO BE OPENED SOON IN WASHINGTON TOWN HALL

Lumber was moved to the town hall building of Washington yesterday to build an operating room at the north end of the building so that a moving picture show might be established here.

Next Monday construction of the operating room will be started and it is barely possible that the show house will be in operation on Monday, April 3d.

Last week Dr. T. H. Dixon of Knights Landing rented the building from the Fire Commissioners and took a lease thereon for a year.

He will fix the building to suit the moving picture business and promises to leave the building in as good shape as he found it.

If the business pays he will continue it with the possibility that he may erect his own showhouse at the end of his lease term.

Dr. Dixon is now operating three show houses, one at Knights Landing, one at Oakland, and one at

BARRY AND BUCKINGHAM CANDIDATES TO SUCCEED THEMSELVES

Judge Jerome D. Barry of Washington township has made announcement to the Independent and his friends in this district that he will be a candidate at the coming election in November to succeed himself.

Similar announcement has been made by Constable Henry B. Buckingham.

Judge Barry has served the people during the past seven years in this district, having been appointed to the place on the death of the late Judge Simpson.

Subsequently he was elected without opposition and is now finishing that term.

Buckingham was elected four years ago and since then has conducted his office without friction or criticism.

Rumors of other contestants have been around but so far no definite names have been mentioned.

ANOTHER SUBDIVISION IS PLANNED IN WEST SACRAMENTO

The Carmichael Company of Sacramento has filed a map of a subdivision, which it is about to place on the market, with the supervisors of Yolo county and has asked approval of the same.

At the last meeting of the board the map was approved and the roads specified thereon were accepted as public highways.

The subdivision is located on the state highway west of Carly Acres and will be known as "River Loam Acres."

STREET CAR SERVICE QUESTION UNDER CONSIDERATION BY BOARD

Application to be allowed to discontinue their service to West Sacramento was submitted to the state railroad commission by the Sacramento Northern Railway Company Wednesday.

Losses sustained in operating expenses is given as the reason for the discontinuance of service.

Residents of West Sacramento appeared in an effort to prevent the company from effecting a change. The matter was taken under advisement by the commission.

According to C. R. Detrick, attorney for the railroad, the company started service to West Sacramento in 1913 when asked to do so by the West Sacramento Land Company. The land company was to benefit by the service and was to pay the cost. In 1915 the railroad reduced the the town of Yolo, north of Woodland.

He has been blessed with a great deal of success, so much so that he quit his professional business to continue in the showhouse line.

Speaking to The Independent last Friday, he said:

"I will have only first class pictures and I believe I am capable of selecting them through my past experience. Only clean pictures fit for the youngest children will be shown and I am going to try to give the people of Washington the class of pictures that will keep them from crossing the bridge every evening."

"I have had this move in contemplation for some time past, and have been carefully sizing up the situation here."

"I think I can save the people of Washington a long walk over either bridge every evening and give them as good as any Sacramento showhouse."

GEORGE THOMAS IS CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

If there is any man in Washington entitled to enter the race for School Trustee at the election Friday, March 31st, more than George Thomas he is not known now.

The special qualification that makes Thomas eligible is the fact that he is the father of nine children, and so many of them are attending school that he should be deeply interested in the conduct of the institution.

Otherwise George Thomas claims no special qualifications to fill the position of School Trustee.

Nevertheless he is a candidate and wants to be elected.

Thomas was born and raised and educated in Washington. He has never left here except on short trips.

He is opposed by Mrs. I. K. Manchester, who has been a School Trustee for six years and who has devoted much of her time and energy to the affairs of the school.

Mrs. Manchester was mainly responsible for the building of the present school building. She succeeded in getting the ladies of the town behind her in an effort to get a favorable vote from the taxpayers and she succeeded.

The fight is waxing warm and is inspiring new life into indifferent taxpayers.

Something of this character has been necessary for some time past.

A pair of decanters claimed to have been owned by George Washington, were recently sold to a New York bootlegger who paid $1400 for them.

Gee, what a change!

MUCH ROAD WORK IS BEING DONE UNDER LEINBERGER

Work on the construction of the roadway north of the Southern Pacific tracks and on Elizabeth street will be started next week under the direction of Supervisor Leinberger and Engineer Proctor.

The entrance to the incline of the Southern Pacific bridge is to be widened by taking away the first three lengths of iron fencing on the bridge, together with the concrete sidewalks at each side.

This will save that sharp and dangerous turn that has caused so many wrecks at the Third street crossing.

Mary street has been graded and rolled between Second and Fifth Streets and will be macadamized during the coming week.

Second street is now macadamized after grading and will be oiled to make a good roadway to the M street bridge very soon.

This route will be a great relief for the dangerous turn at Fifth street where so many autos have gone into the ditch.

South of the M street bridge on the road to West Sacramento the grade has been rocked and is now waiting for a surfacing coat that will be applied in a few days.

An Omaha man sold his wife six times and after remaining a few days with each of her purchasers returned to him.

Yet this is the year of our Lord 1922.

'Beauty and the Beast': a winner

By Steve Marschke

It's a sure crowd pleaser, and if the concept of a "Beauty and the Beast" iceshow sounds good to you, you'd better buy your tickets to this one fast.

Disney and producer Kenneth Feld have set Disney's award-winning animated version of "Beauty" onto ice, for a show due to hit Sacramento between March 9 and 13 at the ARCO arena. A visit to the show in Oakland several weeks ago showed this production to be a winner: all the characters from the animated version are there, as well as a slightly condensed version of the plot and all the important music by Howard Ashman and Alan Menken.

The result is a very watchable storybook romance, enjoyed by kids and adults alike.

The plot is well-known. Belle, skated by Maridith Feinberg, is a kind and intellectual beauty devoted to her eccentric father the inventor. Pursued by the village he-man and braggart, Gaston (played by Russian-born Victor Baryshevsev), Belle becomes the prisoner of a "beast" who is the ruler of an enchanted castle.

Among the enchanted items in the castle are "Lumiere" the romantic candlestick; Mrs. Potts, the kindhearted teakettle (with the voice of

Naturally, an ice-skating version of "Beauty and the Beast" can't be quite the same as a

The lovely Belle meets new friends — the Enchanted Objects of the Beast's castle — in an exciting, new version of a tale as old as time — Walt Disney's World On Ice presents BEAUTY AND THE BEAST.

Disney animation spectacular. The famous Busby-Berkeley-style extravaganza featuring the choreography of masses of singing silverware in the film, for example, just isn't quite the same featuring a few dozen live actors working in two dimensions.

But the choreography gives it a game try in the ice version of the show. "Oohs" and "Ahs" prevailed when the skaters concluded their rendition of the "Be Our Guest" dinnerware-dance scene that is so memorable from the film.

And the ice show has some advantages: a murky white fog makes the menacing forest scenes nicely spooky, for example.

With the music and voice-overs from the film, the live show is familiar and easy even for the little ones to follow. It's no secret how the story ends -- Beauty and the Beast find their love, the Beast turns back into the handsome prince he once was, and everybody except Gaston lives happily ever after.

All in all, a fun show -- especially for young "Beauty and the Beast" fans.

One piece of advice: As with most live entertainment, good seats make for a better show. Buy early for a good selection.

Prices range from $11.50 to $15.50. For information, call 928-8499. Tickets are available at the ARCO Arena Box Office and at Bass ticket outlets.

Preparations under way for RCHS cast party

The Arts Boosters Club (ABC) of River City High School has mailed invitations to its members, alumni of the school's Thespian Troop 3129, parents of the cast and crew, and interested community members for its traditional gala theater party on March 11.

This year the play is Robert Bolt's A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS, which has been in rehearsal since last fall and which features in the title role of Sir Thomas More James Thomas, who starred in the Thespian's production of THE MISER.

Once again, the Thespians, under the direction of Roy Engoron, are bringing an award-winning play with a talented cast and giving West Sacramento great entertainment; the party honors them.

The play will have a run of two weekends at Yolo High School at 8 p.m., on March 3, 4, 5, 10, 11, and 12. All tickets for the party are six dollars and tickets can be reserved (held at the door) by mailing a check made out to Arts Boosters Club to the high school, 1100 Clarendon St.

Further information can be obtained by calling the high school. Members, alumni, or parents who did not receive their invitation in the mail can call 371-8122 or 371-8627.

would also like to give their thanks to those who participated as witnesses, judges, and time keepers during the competition.

ACADEMIC DECATHALON

Academic Decathlon took place on February 5. The day-long event had participants from high schools from all over Yolo County. The students were asked questions about books they had read. The events include: essays, fine arts, speech, interview, literature, math, social science, language, science economics, and the super quiz. All of the students were scored individually except for the super quiz. This year's theme was Documents of Freedom, and was hosted by River City. The students practiced every day after school for one hour or more since October. Most of the studying that the students did, however, was completely on their own.

This year's teams were as follows: the honor team, varsity team, scholastic team. On the honor team was Saurabh Sharma, who won in the Super Quiz a silver medal; Hoang Troang, a bronze medal in science; Veronica Bigornia, a bronze medal in language and literature. On the varsity team was Louie Garcia, who won a gold medal in science; Jason Hernandez, a silver medal in super quiz. On the scholastic team was Toria Lee, who won a bronze medal in science; Kongphong Nanthavongsa, who won a gold medal in mathematics; Renee Castro, who won a silver medal in both mathematics and language and literature. The team would like to extend a very special "thank you" to alternates Jayson Gawthorpe and Jennifer Lopez-Turner.

On behalf of the fundraiser committee and the Kempton Family, we would like to express our appreciation to the following individuals and/or businesses for making the Colleen Kempton Dinner such a great success!

Police Logbook

"Hijacked"

At 10:30 a.m. on Feb. 15, a 32-year old man was contacted by police during an investigation on the 3400 block of West Capitol. He claimed he was being "hijacked" and was trying to leave the state as soon as possible. Police found several outstanding local warrants on him and booked him into jail.

Arson

A 42-year old woman living in a 5th Street apartment was arrested at about 10:25 p.m. on Feb. 15, after police found evidence that she had set at least three fires in her apartment in the past week. Children and others were also living in the apartment.

Loitering

A 66-year old man was arrested after police found him behind a Merkley Avenue nightclub after closing hours, about 1:25 a.m. on Feb. 16. He had outstanding warrants.

Bad checks

A 46-year old woman was arrested on 3rd Street Feb. 16 after a local market complained she had written the market a check on an account that had been closed for a year. Cocaine was found in her purse during booking procedures at Yolo County Jail.

Cocaine

Police found a man at a bus stop in the 3300 block of West Capitol at about 1:30 a.m. on Feb. 17, when no buses were scheduled. It was an area "known for drug sales and prostitution," the responding officer said. The man was on "searchable" probation, and had a "white, rock-like substance" in his possession believed to be rock cocaine. He was arrested.

Burglary?

At about 1:30 a.m. on Feb. 17, police responded to the report of a possible burglary in the 400 block of Westacre Road. A man said he had burglarized, but that only food was missing, and not the TV or other items of value. He said that he had not been assaulted during the burglary, but had woken up on his bedroom floor.

Wells Scholarship

The Mary Virginia Wells Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established at Wells Fargo Bank to honor the memory of Mary Wells, a long time West Sacramento resident and teacher who died this past year. Ms. Wells had a life-long affection for the written word and the scholarship will be awarded on an annual basis to a graduating senior at River City High School who exhibits an ability in creative writing. To date, over $600 has been raised and anyone wishing to donate to the scholarship or assist in the fund-raising can do so by contacting Daryl Fisher at 372-6174 or Cora Hocker at 371-0700.

Earth Shuttle

The Earth Shuttle Boosters are sponsoring a bus trip to the Sundowner in Reno on Saturday, Feb. 26. Departure will occur at 8 a.m. and we will return around 8 p.m. The tickets are $21 each. You will receive $10 cash back and a $3 coupon. If you are interested please call Carole Braden at 371-5269 or Terri McCall at 371-6137.

Martinez campaign

The Re-Elect Bob Martinez Sheriff/Coroner fund raiser dinner will be held on March 4 at Cracchiolo's Banquet Room, 1320 E. Main Street in Woodland. Tickets are $30 per person. Call Steve Thorpe at 371-3868, Lee Refsland at 666-5258, or Bart Simpson at 666-0886.

Public welcome at Yolo history event

The general meeting of the Yolo County Historical Society will be held on Monday, February 28, at 7:15 p.m. in the Atrium of the Yolo County Administration Building, 625 Court Street in Woodland.

Earl Balch, director of the Yolo County Parks and Recreation Department, will present a program entitled "Where to Have a Picnic — A History of Parks and Recreation in Yolo County."

As our population increases, the importance of preserving space for parks and recreation increases. From the beginning years of Yolo County there have been parks and land used for rest and recreation. The Sacramento River, Cache and Putah Creeks offer many natural spots for relaxing — fishing, swimming, picnicking, boating, camping, bird watching, etc. In 1957 Herb Hotchner, a former active member of the Historical Society, became Yolo County's first planning director, working to control growth and to protect the environment. In 1964 Yolo County received $300,000 from a State Bond Act for park development. Earl Balch was hired by the county in 1966 to head the Parks and Recreation Department, a position he holds today. His talk and slide presentation will cover the development of the parks that we can all enjoy along with the many city parks in Yolo County. He was vice-president of the Historical Society in 1971 when the society purchased the old Opera House for $12,000. After much fundraising and money grants to restore it, it became the Woodland Opera House Historic Park in 1979. Earl has served on the Opera House Board of Directors. In 1965 the Society began to pursue the purchase of the old Gibson House for a permanent museum. The county purchased the house in 1975 for $19,000. Earl was involved in bringing about the purchase and restoration of the house and grounds and continues to be involved in its maintenance. He has served on the board of the Yolo County Museum Association.

This meeting is an opportunity to learn of the many spots in our county to relax and enjoy nature — places to take our children, and grandchildren, and how some of our tax money is spent.
